1. GENERAL INFORMATION

GENDER. Journal for Gender, Culture and Society provides an interdisciplinary forum for publications from theory, research and practice regarding gender studies. The journal is published in three issues a year and some 480 pages per annum. Each issue offers a thematic focus. Furthermore, each issue has a free section with contributions from various subject areas and a section for book reviews. The journal is a project of the Netzwerk Frauen und Geschlechterforschung NRW (Women's and Gender Research Network NRW). We publish only contributions that have not been published before. In submitting your manuscript you declare that your contribution has not yet been published or submitted for publication elsewhere.

Sections and number of characters

Contributions to the thematic focus must not exceed 50,000 characters (including space characters, footnotes, reference list, and additional information)

Contributions to the free sector must not exceed 50,000 characters (including space characters, footnotes, reference list, and additional information)

Book reviews must not exceed 9,000 characters (including space characters and additional information)

Group reviews must not exceed 18,000 characters (including space characters and additional information)

As additional information, please provide:

a) An abstract (must not exceed 1,200 characters) and up to six keywords (please do not capitalize, unless you quote names)
b) An abstract and the title of your contribution in German and up to six keywords
c) The following details concerning the author (at the end of your contribution): first name, last name, academic title, date of birth (optional), position (optional), affiliation, the main focus of your work and research, postal and email addresses.

In your abstracts, please provide information on the following aspects:

a) purpose
b) methods
c) results
d) conclusions.

Contributions to the thematic focus and the free section undergo a multi-stage review process: In a first step submissions are reviewed by the editorial board. Once a submission has been judged suitable for the issue, it will be reviewed by external experts in a double-blind peer-review process. Please remove any clear hints that identify your authorship. In general, the review process takes up to three months; it may take longer in individual cases. The reviewers may give instructions to revise the contribution, which is the rule rather than the exception. We will inform you as soon as possible whether or not your contribution is accepted, what revisions are necessary and when your contribution will be published. Please send your manuscript as a Word document (PDF files are not permitted) via E-Mail to manuskripte@gender-zeitschrift.de

The editors may make minor corrections to the text. Before the contribution is printed, authors receive proofs of their contributions. No royalties are payable. All authors receive one free copy of the journal and a pdf file of their contribution for non-commercial use.

2. STYLES

- Please use gender-neutral language throughout the text.
- Please ensure that information on your research method and central findings are included in the abstract.
- Please submit your manuscript as running text (no justification, no hyphenation) in Times New Roman or Arial font, 12 pt., 1.5 line spacing
- When referring to decades, please use the 90s or 1990s.
- When quoting a web address, please omit http:// if address begins with www.
- Please spell out percent, i.e. 50 percent, unless you quote many percentages in one paragraph, then please use %.
- Please spell out figures from one to twelve, unless you quote many figures in one paragraph, then please use numerals.
- Please do not abbreviate million, billion etc.
- Numbers with more than four digits are grouped by adding a non-breaking space: 33 000 and 6 900.
- Please use italics for accentuation; do not use underlining, capitalizing, spacing or small capitals.
- Please do not use abbreviations like "ibid." etc.; instead repeat the appropriate reference.
- Please use annotations (footnotes) for explanations and commentaries only, not for references and bibliographic data.
- Please use your software options for generating footnotes.
- Please note that we use British English as our standard, and manuscripts are edited accordingly.

3. STRUCTURING

- Please use decimal classification for chapters and sections (i.e. 1. Gender; 1.1 Women, 1.1.1 Working women). Please ensure that each numbered subsection has a text paragraph assigned to it. (Sub)sections must not be listed without an assigned text.
- Do not use spacing within one paragraph for further structuring.

4. CHARTS/GRAPHS/TABLES

- Charts and tables should generally be part of the main text body.
- In addition, please send us artwork of tables and charts as a separate file.
- Please send photographs and images in an original file (i.e. jpg or tiff), at least 300 dpi. The copyright-holder's permission must have been obtained prior to submission.
- In case charts and tables are not yet inserted into the main text body, please comment clearly on the location within the text where they are to be inserted. All charts must be in black and white or grayscale.

- Charts, graphs and tables will not be edited as part of the layout and editing process. Therefore they must have sufficient, ready-print quality.

The editorial board may not use the submitted files if the quality is not sufficient.

5. QUOTATIONS

- Do not use footnotes for citations but use American style by giving the author's last name and the year of publication in brackets (Müller 2003: 13). For publications by two or more authors (up to three names), please use dashes (Müller/Meier/Schmitt 2009: 13). For publications by four or more authors, please name the first author followed by "et al." (Schorb et al. 2010: 45).
- If in the text an author is named and their publication is referenced, the publication is indicated by giving the year of publication in brackets after the author's name, e.g. Löther (2004). If the author is not named in the text, the last name and the year of publication as well as the page quoted from must be given, e.g. […"besonders wichtig sind die vernetzenden und betreuenden Angebote" (Löther 2004: 25) …].
- In case of institutional editors, the name of the institution must not be abbreviated (Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development 2007).
- Please put publications from the same year in alphabetical order, and use "a", "b", "c", etc. (Peuckert 2005a: 19).
- Two or more references must be included in the same brackets and separated by a semi-colon (Butler 1993; Hochschild 1997; Walker/Unterhalter 2007).
- The complete reference is given in the reference list at the end of the contribution.
- Quotes within the text, e.g. separate sentences, parts of sentences or terms are set in the same font size without accentuation. If you accentuate a word or phrase within a quote please state the origin of the accentuation.
- Longer, illustrative quotations/quoted paragraphs and paragraphs subordinate to the main text, i.e. protocol documentations and the like, are to be typeset in 11 pt. in their own paragraphs. To make sure this is distinguished, please mark the respective passage with a vertical line in the margin. In the journal, these passages will be formatted in a smaller font size. All quotations must be in quotation marks.

6. REFERENCE LIST

- The reference list is to be put at the very end of the contribution in its own section. Please use "References" as the heading and arrange your list alphabetically according to the authors' last names. Publications by the same author must be listed in chronological order according to year of publication.
- Please arrange your reference list in accordance with the APA style guide for academic writing (American Psychological Association Publication Manual, 6th Edition 2009). There is one exception: We kindly ask you to give the authors' full first name, not just the abbreviation.
- Put the references left-aligned without additional blank lines or indentation.
- Please add a full stop at the end of each reference.
- For page-to-page references, please use the en dash without space characters, e.g. pp. 113–128.
- Please ensure that web references are accurate and up to date at the time of submission and prior to the typesetting.

DOI (Digital Object Identifier)

Please add the respective DOI for all publications (if available). You can use CrossRef to search for the DOIs associated with your references. To do so, go to www.crossref.org and click Simple Text Query Form or go directly to www.crossref.org/simpleTextQuery. To use the search function register for a free account here. Copy your entire reference list and paste it into the input field. Then click Submit. Your list will be displayed with all DOIs CrossRef was able to find. Please note that CrossRef will delete your text formatting.
